ACTIVIST CAMERA FOUND IN QLD PIGGERY

30 August 2018

Information
Dear Producers On the weekend a savvy producer found two cameras and a network device in a piggery in Queensland. The producer located the cameras after finding a very strong WIFI signal on his phone in the pig sheds, and a “misplaced” USB cable. The police have collected all devices as evidence. All producers, but particularly Queensland producers, should check for hidden cameras and perhaps unusual WIFI signals. If any are located, do not touch it but contact your local police to have these removed as evidence. Producers should also consider what security options are available to alert you to the presence of activists at night. Producers are also reminded that the APL Pig Farm Invasion Toolkit is available on the APL or PigPass websites in the Members’ area.
