NLIS has recently accredited tags for use in pigs. The list of accredited devices for use in pigs can be found on the next page.

Colour of devices

In Australia, pig breeder devices must be yellow and post-breeder devices orange.

As with all NLIS accredited devices please ensure the correct applicator is used when applying these devices. If in doubt, please contact the manufacturer directly to clarify which applicator should be used in conjunction with each device.

All contact details for these manufacturers can be found on page 2 of this document.

Full accreditation status

These devices have full NLIS accreditation status. All of the examples below are yellow breeder devices. The equivalent post-breeder tag is orange. Post-breeder tags are applied to pigs no longer on their property of birth.

Note: See Page 2 for manufacturers' contact details.
