

PIG WHP/ESI LIST

This list comprises of products approved for pigs with withholding periods (WHP) and export slaughter intervals (ESI).

The data should correctly list the WHP and ESI as presented on the label.

Products for which the active is of no residue concerns (such as protein pastes and nutritionals) are excluded from this list.

Many 'older' products have not had an ESI established by the APVMA. However, a WHP/ESI may need to be considered in conjunction with your vet.

While every endeavor has been made to capture all pig products, some products may have been inadvertently omitted.

Producers and veterinarians can check any product on PUBCRIS (<https://portal.apvma.gov.au/pubcris>).

Compounds banned for use in food-producing animals

For food safety reasons, the PigPass NVD requires you to declare that the pigs in the consignment were not treated with, or exposed to any compounds banned for use in food producing animals. For a list of these compounds, please consult the APVMA web page “Substances not permitted for use on food-producing animals in Australia” list at: <https://apvma.gov.au/node/11626>. Compounds on this list must not be administered or used on pigs under any circumstances.
